

Rimasys and HARTMANN: A partnership for surgical excellence

HARTMANN GROUP and Rimasys Group have joined forces to support orthopedic and medical emergency professionals with the education and products they need to achieve the best possible outcomes for patients in the operating theater.

Heidenheim, 5 December 2022. The HARTMANN Group has entered a partnership with the health-tech start-up Rimasys Group to combine the leading OR products with state-of-the-art surgical training. The partnership aims to support surgeons, in particular those working in orthopedics and emergency care.

Orthopedic and trauma surgery are a growing segment in the healthcare sector all over Europe, mainly fueled by an aging population and rising co-morbidity diseases. The HARTMANN Risk Prevention division offers healthcare professionals working in these areas a complete portfolio with state-of-the-art, easy to use and protective products.

The Rimasys Group is dedicated to providing the best surgical education through innovative and interactive technologies. The group offers next-generation surgical education by utilizing didactic innovations providing the most realistic training simulations. Not only is the group providing hands-on trainings for orthopedic and trauma surgeons of all levels, they also support educational events all over the world with their lifelike fractures recreated on human specimens.

Under this new partnership, HARTMANN will give the over 1.000 orthopedic and emergency surgeons trained yearly in the Rimasys facilities access to the specifically optimized HARTMANN portfolio including personal protective equipment, specialized surgical draping and disinfection products. HARTMANN's products cover the pre-intervention, intervention and post-intervention for all major orthopedics and trauma care and support OR staff by delivering time-saving benefits and contributing to a holistic infection prevention approach.

Martin Walther, head of the business division Risk Prevention at HARTMANN Group says, "This partnership combines the best of both worlds: safe surgical products with leading surgical education. Together, we are committed to achieve best outcomes for patients."

Marc Ebinger, CEO and Co-Founder of the Rimasys Group is "very excited about this new collaboration: "Our goal is to provide our customers with the best possible experience in our training center, and this includes state-of-the-art equipment. HARTMANN's products help us meet this aim in every way. Together, we are providing the high quality in surgical training."
